Earthquake Rips Through Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's worst earthquake in decades ripped through the country's storm-ravaged midriff Tuesday, killing nearly 500 persons and injuring more than 1,000 others, officials reported.

Thousands were added to those already left homeless by flooding.

A spokesman for the governor of Puebla said the death toll was nearing the 400 mark in that state, and public safety officials in Veracruz state reported 85 deaths.

Puebla state seen from the air revealed huge cracks in the ground. Clusters of people stood around damaged homes in Ciudad Serdan, one of the hardest-hit towns. It is located south of the city of Puebla. A small village nearby was leveled.

A spokesman for President Luis Echeverria said the quake affected a three-state area south and west of Mexico City. The capital was shaken by tremors, but neither it nor the resort of Acapulco was damaged. There were no reports of any foreigners injured.

The earthquake, measured variously at 5.5 and 6.5 on the Richter scale, hit Mexico when it was already suffering from the effects of Hurricane Brenda and torrential rains that have killed 70 persons, damaged the homes of 400,000 and caused millions of dollars worth of damage.

Communication with many communities was cut off.

A rescue center was set up in Jalapa, where all damage reports were funneled.

The official toll was expected to increase as reports continued filtering in from hard-hit towns and villages in the quake belt stretching from Puebla eastward to Veracruz.

In Mexico City, hundreds of tourists fled into the capital's Paseo de la Reforma Boulevard in their nightclothes when their hotel rooms began to sway.

Police and Red Cross units in Puebla, about 80 miles southeast of Mexico City, reported deaths in that city as well as in nearby villages. A Red Cross ambulance driver reported 40 killed in the village of Quechulac, 35 miles east of Puebla.

Swedish Cops Capture Gunman; Hostages OK

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Police ended the marathon siege at a downtown bank Tuesday night and said there were no apparent injuries to the two gunmen or the four hostages they had been holding six days.

In announcing the end of the siege, police Supt. Sven Thorander lifted his gas mask and told newsmen: "No one injured. No one injured."

The gunman who started the operation with an attempted bank holdup last Thursday, 32-year-old Jan-Erik Olsson, surrendered in the face of a mass demonstration of force by police. He came out of the bank vault handcuffed.

He was followed by the four young bank employees who had been at his mercy while holed up in the vault. The three young women and one man were apparently unharmed but were carried on stretchers to an ambulance.

Police drilled holes into the ceiling of the locked vault earlier Tuesday, reportedly to give marksmen a chance to shoot the gunman.

The strategy, described as "Operation Swiss Cheese," began in the early hours at the main office of the Kreditbanken. Police have held the bank building under siege since last Thursday morning in an effort to flush out the two gunmen and free their captives unharmed.

Swedish crime reporters gave this picture of what was happening:

As drills drove through the two-foot-thick reinforced concrete ceiling, police slapped bullet-proof glass across the opening and a sharpshooter took up his position beside it, lying on a mattress.

Even so, gunman Olsson or his bank robber companion, Clark Olofsson, 26, were very much on the alert. A shot fired up one of the new holes wounded a policeman. Hospital sources said his condition was not serious.

Authorities also were using sophisticated listening devices, borrowed from Sweden's secret police.

Solzhenitsyn Interviewed

MOSCOW (AP) — Nobel Prize winner Alexander Solzhenitsyn says the Kremlin will not return to repressions like those of the Stalin purges of the 1930s because Western protests and the lofty behavior of Soviet dissidents will prevent it.

The world-renowned novelist granted a long and rare interview with two Western correspondents in which he said, among many other things, that: "Official threats had been made against him and his family."

—If he should be killed it would be the work or inspiration of the security police.

—Should he disappear, the "main part" of his works would be published.

Solzhenitsyn was voted the 1970 Nobel Prize for literature. He is best known in the West for the novels "The First Circle," "Cancer Ward" and "August 1914." His works are banned here.

In the interview with The Associated Press and Le Monde of Paris, Solzhenitsyn spoke strongly in defense of Dr. Andrei D. Sakharov, the physicist who is a leading Soviet voice for human rights.

The 54-year-old writer also talked at length on the Soviet social situation, on jamming of Western broadcasts, and on the recent expulsion of Vladimir Maksimov from the Writers' Union, the same official body that expelled Solzhenitsyn.

"Vladimir Maksimov is an honest, courageous writer who in a disinterested and sacrificing manner is dedicated to truth and has already been very successful in the search for truth," he said. "Therefore, his expulsion from the Writers' Union is completely normal."

On the Soviet practice of lifting the citizenship of prominent dissidents allowed to travel abroad, he said:

"Citizenship in our country is not an inalienable natural right for every human being born on its soil. But it is a kind of coupon which is kept by an exclusive clique of people who in no way and by nothing have proved that they have a greater right to the Russian soil."

"And this clique can, if it doesn't approve of some citizen's convictions, declare him deprived of his homeland. I leave it to you to find a word yourselves for such a social structure."

Sirica's Decision Only Initial Step

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. District Court ruling expected this week on President Nixon's Watergate tape recordings will be only the first step toward the possible "definitive" Supreme Court decision the President has pledged to obey.

The chief District Court judge, John J. Sirica, heard oral arguments last week on whether the White House must give the Watergate special prosecutor recordings of certain conversations that took place between Nixon and aides in the President's office.

Whichever way Sirica decides, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia will be asked by the losing side to overturn the decision. The Circuit Court decision will, in turn, be taken to the Supreme Court. The case could reach the justices in early October.

An order to produce the tape recordings could be blocked pending a final decision by the high court. Sirica, if he rules in favor of the Watergate special prosecutor whose subpoena prompted the legal battle, could block the effect of his own decision pending Circuit Court action.

India Agrees To Free POWs

NEW DELHI (AP) — India and Pakistan agreed Tuesday to release about 90,000 Pakistani war prisoners, thus removing the chief obstacle to final settlement of the December 1971 war.

The text of the pact, signed after 11 days of negotiations, was not immediately released. But sources from both sides said it covered all the main problems.

The 1971 war between India and Pakistan resulted in creation of the independent state of Bangladesh, formerly the eastern wing of Pakistan.

Leaders of the two delegations, P. N. Haksar of India and Aziz Ahmed of Pakistan, signed the agreement in a ceremony in the conference room of the Foreign Ministry.

Haksar, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's former principal assistant, said: "Although the agreement relates to humanitarian problems, it also relates to a larger vision of building a structure of durable peace, good neighborliness and cooperation on the subcontinent."

Chrysler's Offer Called 'Mockery'

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. offered the United Auto Workers 3 per cent wage hikes in each of the next three years Tuesday. The proposal was rejected unanimously by union bargainers, who termed it "a mockery."

"This offer is worse than we got in the very bad recession year of 1958," UAW President Leonard Woodcock said. He added: "Any optimism we may have had about a settlement certainly seems remote."

There are 18 days remaining before the UAW contracts with the Big Three auto makers expire Sept. 14. Chrysler has been designated the UAW "target" company.

"I don't think they want a strike, but they're not working very hard to avoid one," UAW

Vice President Douglas Fraser said.

Another bargaining session is scheduled Wednesday at Chrysler's Highland Park headquarters, but union leaders said they did not know what the subject matter will be.

William O'Brien, Chrysler vice president for personnel, refused to discuss the over-all costs of Chrysler's offer. "We'll just say it is within government guidelines," he said.

Woodcock also declined to estimate the percentage increase of the entire package — wages plus pensions, insurance, holidays and other provisions. He said: "I'd be ashamed. It will go into the negative."

Federal guidelines call for wage and fringe benefit increases to be held to a total of 6.2 per cent.

Fighting Continues For Supply Routes

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Government forces gained in their fourth day of fighting to reopen Phnom Penh's two major supply routes to the north and south.

However, they suffered a sharp setback Tuesday on the outer defenses of the capital.

The commanding general of the drive to reopen Cambodia's Highway 4, Phnom Penh's lifeline to the southern seaport of Kompong Som, told newsmen the entire 147-mile roadway was open.

But the Cambodian military command in Phnom Penh announced later that less than two miles of the highway to the sea was still closed, just below Muehasing, about 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Associated Press photographer Horst Faas reported from Highway 4 that a government armored column smashed its way through rebel positions at Thnal Toleang, 18 miles west of Phnom Penh, and forced the insurgents to retreat.

Col. Am Rong, chief spokesman for the Cambodian military command, said that by nightfall another stretch of less than two miles remained to be

GAINESVILLE, Fla.: "Gainesville 8" defendant Scott Camil readies himself for the first, and last, day of the defense's arguments. Monday Scott drew the wrath of Judge Arnow for his remark, "the government is guilty of conspiracy against the people." (UPI Telephoto)

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The defense in the Gainesville Eight conspiracy trial rested its case Tuesday after calling only one witness — an explosives expert.

The jurors, who have been sequestered most of the month-long trial, smiled when attorneys for eight members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War announced the conclusion of their case.

The defense presentation had been expected to take several weeks. The government presented 27 witnesses in more than three weeks of testimony.

The prosecution rested its case Tuesday and closing arguments were scheduled by Arnow for Thursday.

Wednesday was set aside for arguments by lawyers from both camps on what additional information the government must furnish the defense about an early prosecution witness, FBI informer William J. Lemmer.

The last defense witness was a bearded chemist described as an explosives expert, Steven Stellman of Denver, Colo. He testified that a mixture of potassium permanganate and glycerin in a two-ounce medicine bottle could not explode and would be unreliable for starting a fire.

Seven of the antiwar activists are accused of plotting violent disruptions during the 1972 Republican National Convention at Miami Beach. The plot allegedly included plans to throw fire bombs into police car gas tanks.

The eighth defendant is accused of failing to report crimes by the other seven.

Editorial Comment

Make It Work, Or Else

The director of the President's Energy Policy Office, John Love, evidently believes that major oil firms have been juggling fuel allocations to advance their own interests. He clearly indicated this view in briefing oil industry executives on administration fuel policies, and warned that unless the industry makes the voluntary fuel allocations system work it may be in for long-term mandatory controls.

Love did not content himself with generalities. "There have been a number of instances," he bluntly told the oil men, "of apparently callous disregard for traditional and long-standing supply relationships..." He added that apparently "some purchasers have received far greater proportional allocations of fuel than have others." He made it plain, as was proper, that such finagling would not long be tolerated.

This was not the first time the energy policy boss had suggested that mandatory controls were in the offing. Early in August he had, while assuring the industry that the idea of such fuel allocation had been rejected for the time being, presented a mandatory program "for comment."

The message was plain: allocate short supplies fairly, or expect mandatory controls. He gave the message a further twist at the recent briefing when he expressed concern "that once we have begun such a program we may never be able to revert back to an uncontrolled market." If the industry is wise, it will heed Love's exhortation: "Gentlemen, you must make this voluntary allocation plan work."

Problem Of Missing Youths

Never has the problem of runaway youngsters been more grimly highlighted than by the mass slayings in Houston. It seems unlikely that any fool-proof way can be found to rule out further episodes of this kind. Hope is nevertheless offered by the idea of an expanded federal role in dealing with the problem.

Houston police have been criticized for not having detected a pattern in the disappearance of 27 boys later found murdered. Their response is that no pattern was discernible over the period of these occurrences. As Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger suggests, however, patterns might be established by the use of sophisticated equipment which federal agencies could make available to local police.

Weinberger also says he is receptive to what sounds like an excellent measure — the creation of a national registry of missing children and youths. This should prove to be of great help to police seeking to trace youngsters reported missing from their homes. We think it should be done at once.

The present HEW-funded program includes telephone services to counsel teenagers in trouble, halfway houses for runaways, and police training courses. Expansion of these efforts, and perhaps the addition of other measures following consultation with juvenile relations experts, would be a sound response to the problem brought to national attention by the grisly events in Houston.

More Hunters This Year

There are going to be a lot more hunters than usual in field and wood this fall. It has struck many Americans that wild game, everything from rabbits to deer, would be a fine addition to the larder in a time of meat shortages and high prices. Already, an increase in off-season poaching is an indicator of things to come.

There are reports of a substantial jump in the number of persons buying licenses to hunt. One Western state, for example, had tallied an increase of more than 30 per cent in the number of licensed hunters when applications closed.

Officials in that state also called attention to another aspect of the situation: inquiries showed, they said, that a substantial number of applicants were buying licenses for the first time. There is reason to believe that a similar pattern exists in other states.

A larger than usual number of inexperienced hunters, then, will be out looking for game this fall. Some will be trigger-happy, prone to shoot at almost anything that moves. Many will be ignorant of even the basic rules for handling firearms. The risk will thus be heightened for all hunters.

It is always appropriate for game and fish authorities to impress upon hunters the importance of safety. Because of the expected influx of first-time hunters this season, stepped-up efforts of this kind are indicated.

Soviet Union-China Struggle Becoming Global

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
As the Soviet Union presses its campaign for improved relations with the West, it relentlessly also is pressing its campaign to isolate China. And as China expands its own diplomatic contacts, the struggle between the two becomes global.

China has sought to improve its relations with the European common market and has warned the West against letting down its NATO barriers against the Soviets at the upcoming European Security Conference.

The Soviet objective, it says, is first to conquer China and then Europe. As for the Soviet campaign against China, it is being pressed on four fronts. On the military side, it has approximately 50 divisions posted along its 4,500-mile frontier with China, or about one third of its entire army.

The Soviets accuse the Chinese of making "absurd demands" on 600,000 square miles of Soviet territory.

Talks to settle the issue have been going on sporadically since the spring of 1964 but remain in deadlock.

Diplomatically, the Soviets have seized upon the Vietnam cease-fire to promote an Asian collective security pact.

The Soviet Union already has friendship pacts with Iraq and India.

The idea of a collective security pact has been broached to Iran and is expected to come up again when Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka visits Moscow soon.

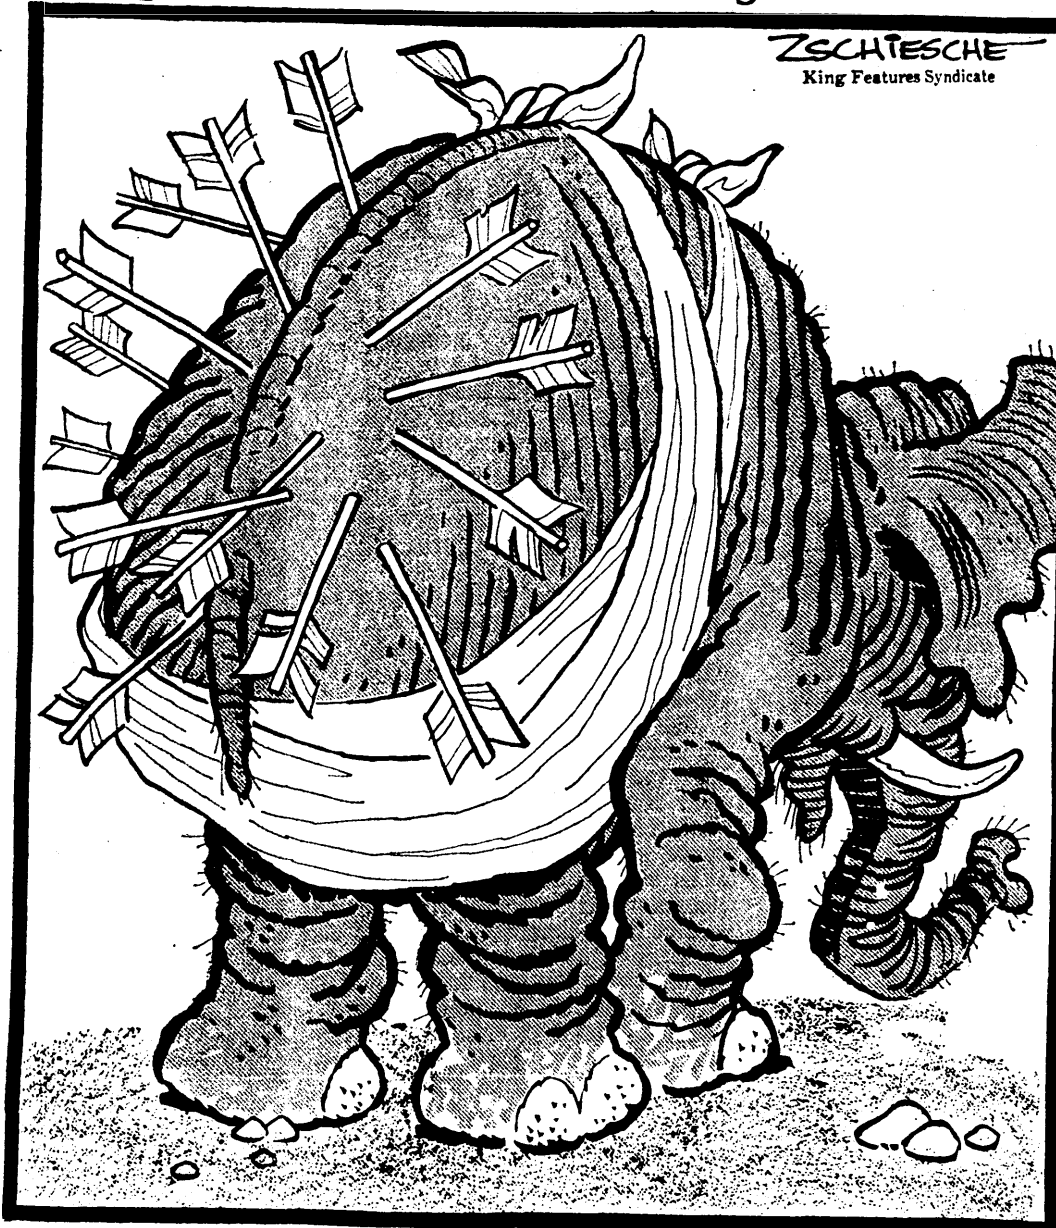

A prerequisite so far as Japan is concerned would be a Soviet-Japanese peace treaty, nearly 30 years after the end of World War II in the Pacific.

As part of its overall Asian plan, the Soviet Union also is pressing a program to settle more farmers in agricultural lands along the Chinese border.

On the propaganda front, the Soviets have given new Russian names to far eastern Siberian towns whose names previously sounded Chinese. For instance, the coal mining town of Suchan east of Vladivostok has been renamed Partizansk, apparently in honor of Bolshevik guerrillas who operated near the town during the early 1920s.

The Soviet determination to win friends and influence people in Asia also is apparent in its foreign aid program—a steel mill for India, a metallurgical plant and tire factory for Sri Lanka, formerly Ceylon, steel plants for Pakistan and Iran and help from Afghanistan in development of its gas fields.

Riches: A Blessing And Our Handicap

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A score of times I've been away from mainland America, and nowadays I seldom return without feeling acutely that some intangible deficiency of spirit afflicts many Americans.

Probably everything I could say in the way of particulars has already been said, and some of it many times. Somehow it almost never gets put together in a fashion that helps explain Americans to themselves. I won't pretend more than a groping toward that goal.

This country's spaciousness and richness of resource have been both blessing and handicap. They have permitted wide, free movement of people and things, generally at living levels unmatched anywhere.

The luxurious mobility of an expanding frontier spelled fresh opportunity and an escape from discontents. Today that "frontier" lies in clustered suburban nebulae that seem to have incredible gravitational force.

Indeed, we've always had a "pull" so strong that, as long as we chose to allow it, millions streamed here from other lands to escape poverty, persecution, social and political rigidity.

Yet the handicap, for many, is that mobility fosters irresponsibility, and a sense of unaccountability. Today's stories of neglect of the poor and of intolerable conditions in prisons, welfare institutions and hospitals are new only in their details. In the headlong rush for the shifting main chance, many have not thought to care about those held immobile by hard circumstances or unadventurous spirit.

As varied immigrant strains struggled for a place in a social fabric stiffer than they had imagined, they viewed later newcomers with hostility and indifference. Many who fled "uncaring" societies in Europe came here and learned their own ways of not caring.

Freedom never has meant equality of circumstance, though its roots in our Constitution bear the oft-ignored brand "equality of opportunity." What we have found, however, is that our special kind of wide-swinging affluence kills. We make politics into war, as Watergate shows dramatically. We assassinate leaders on soil dedicated to accommodation of purposes.

Monotony always has flawed mass production processes which turn resources into affluence. Yet today's workers, despairing of creative change, sing "assembly line blues" even as they grasp the fruits of the process. The air is thick with challenge, but we accept "boredom" as the Great Excuse for senseless crime, lounging indolence and alienation, often irreversible despoiling of the U.S. scene.

In a nation founded in revolution against extremes, we talk and practice extremity and over-kill. We make politics into war, as Watergate shows dramatically. We assassinate leaders on soil dedicated to accommodation of purposes.

Is America really a shaky mirage in a brutally empty Sahara?

Ann Landers:

Silence Isn't Always Golden

Dear Ann Landers: I can't stand bigots who make downgrading remarks about certain ethnic groups. But I find myself reluctant to say anything for fear of starting an argument or incurring the wrath of a person I don't know well.

I belong to a minority group but one would not know it by looking at me. Occasionally someone will say something unflattering about my people and I feel a little guilty remaining silent. My husband says my restraint is a sign of good manners. What do you say?—Quiet in Maryland

Dear Q.: Silence isn't always golden. Sometimes it's just yellow.

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you will publish this rebuttal of S.S.'s comment about the Doberman pinscher: "True to the breed—unpredictable and vicious."

Our Doberman is affectionate and obedient. He's a good watchdog (with two barks: fierce for strangers and a perfunctory "woof woof" for friends and neighbors).

He loves children and knows he can't play with a two-year-old the same way he plays with a ten-year-old. When we argue, he sits in one spot and looks perfectly miserable.

There is so much prejudice in this world—let's not extend it to dogs. I'm sure there are plenty of vicious Dobermans around but there are vicious Great Danes, German shepherds and boxers as well. When we walk our dog (on a leash, heeling) some mothers will snatch up their children and say, "Watch out, darling. That's a killer dog."

Incidentally, someone should tell S.S.'s husband that dog experts insist no private citizen should try to train a dog to attack. It can lead to disaster.—A Boston Doberman Lover

Dear Lover: If there's any room in the doghouse, tell Rover to move over. Of course, you are right. Thanks for the letter.

Dear Ann Landers: You are wrong. To have a brown-eyed child, at least one of the parents must have brown eyes because the gene producing brown eyes is dominant.

My authorities are J. E. Wodessdalek, General Zoology, (Wm. C. Brown Co., 1963); C. A. Ville, Biology (4th Ed. Saunders, 1962); D. Marsland, Principles of Modern Biology (Holt and Rinehart, 1964).

What is YOUR authority, Ann Landers? — Assistant Prof. of Genetics Who Wishes to Remain Anonymous although I am Signing This Letter

Dear Professor: I will, of course, respect your wish for anonymity. First because you requested it, and second because I would not humiliate you by pointing out that your literature is woefully out of date. You are wrong.

My authority is Dr. Carl Witkop, former head of the Genetics Branch of The National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland.

Dr. Witkop says: "In the early days of genetics it was believed that the eye color was determined by a single pair of genes. We now know that this is incorrect and that eye color is transmitted by at least three genes. In the vast majority of cases, two blue-eyed parents will produce a blue-eyed child. But it is now an established fact that two blue-eyed parents can produce a brown-eyed child."

Your apologies are accepted.

Aluminum Siding Protection Tips

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — I am writing about Marie's problem with washing the aluminum siding on her home. We had this put on, too. Every year I first wash it down with the hose and then, starting at the bottom, use a pail of water with a good detergent and a soft cloth. After this, it is hosed down again and looks like new. — LAURA
DEAR GIRLS — I learned that there are several finishes used on aluminum siding. All siding men I talked to agreed on the above for siding put on houses. Mobile homes have a harder finish and the following letter will answer the question for those living in mobile homes. — POLLY is similar to that on an automobile and should be cared for the same way. Caution: Do not use naphtha or gasoline to remove tar. Such solvents may soften the finish. Do not wax your home until at least a month after purchase. If you live near the seashore, wax every few months, but elsewhere once or twice a year should be sufficient. — JOLENE

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I do hope someone call me how to successfully remove the blood from whole chickens bought in packages in food stores. — MARY W.
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve concerns flannelette blankets that are made to fit the beds when they are new, but after the first washing, have shrunk so badly that they are too small. It seems this material could be shrunk before the blankets were made and then they would stay large enough to tuck in under the mattress. I do hope the manufacturers well after washing. The finish of such products will do something about this. — MRS. G.B. J.

DEAR POLLY — I am an arthritic. To simplify some of the problems associated with such a condition I bought a 1/2-inch dowel stick about 38 inches long. In one end I screwed a brass hook that has the end bent at a right angle like those used for sash curtain rods. For several years I have been using this for all sorts of pickup jobs and for reaching objects on the backs of shelves to bring them within reach. I first thought of this when I needed something to straighten out the backs of my shoes that bent when I put them on. I cannot stoop and a long shoe horn would not work. — ALICE L.
DEAR POLLY — When cleaning windows it is hard to get all the dirt out of the corners of the grooves where the storm windows fit. I hit on the idea of wetting a cotton-tipped stick. They are just the right size to fit in these grooves. — MABEL

If you are playing rubber bridge you aren't happy with your three no-trump contract. Of course, you are sure of your game, but you would have liked to have reached six diamonds. If you are a duplicate player you see that if you can make three overtricks at your no-trump contract you will do well since virtually everyone will be in the same contract and probably most of them will only make five. You see that seven is almost impossible. You will need four club tricks and some sort of spade-heart squeeze for that, so you duck the first spade on general principles. You win the second one in dummy; lead a club and finesse the 10. The finesse works and now, since East started with exactly three clubs, you are going to make four club tricks and since the jack of diamonds is going to drop nicely you are going to make 12 tricks. Was there any reason to finesse against East? Yes, there was! You were sure of four club tricks on this line if East held queen, queen-small or queen and two small in clubs. Playing West for the queen you would only score four club tricks against a singleton.

Graham Drives 4 Heat Winners

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Jerry Graham of Salem drove four heat winners in the Illinois Breeders Futurity Stakes at the DuQuoin State Fair Monday. Graham won the 2-year-old pace with Tome the Terror and the 3-year-old trot with Danny's Colt, both in straight heats. Deep Red took the 3-year-old pace for John Graham with the fastest mile of the day in 2:02 1-5. Millersburg won the 2-year-old trot with Wilbur Rathgeber driving. The racing was the first on a five-day grand circuit program that features the Hambletonian for 3-year-old trotters on Wednesday.

Take Action To Conserve Heating Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House moved Monday to conserve the already short supply of home heating oil available this winter by proposing regulations barring power plants and other coal-burners from switching to petroleum. The regulations, announced by White House energy chief John Love, would mark the first significant use of President Nixon's authority to im-

"SAM THE MAN" a three month old all-mutt variety wants to 'hole-up' with a congenial family as soon as possible. Sam, part coon hound, has learned fall and winter will follow summer and he wants a home. Sam is expected to round out at 50 pounds full grown, has an even temper and most of his permanent teeth. Sam's secretary will take names of all interested in adoption of the PAL (Protective Animal League) orphan at 243-3151, any evening.

pose mandatory allocation of scarce fuels. Love said the action was being taken because "there may be insufficient supplies of petroleum products, especially home heating oils, to meet essential needs in certain parts of the country and to insure an adequate supply to the independent distributors and marketers."

The regulations, if adopted after public hearings, would specifically require present coal burners to continue using coal, except where another fuel must be adopted to protect public health under federal air quality standards. In addition, the regulations would prohibit oil-burning plants from shifting to fuel oils with less sulfur than they are now using except where necessary to meet the government's primary air quality standards. Low-sulfur fuel oil creates less pollution than coal or oil with a higher sulfur content. Love said the proposed rules would not roll back any gains already made in reducing the sulfur content of fuel oils under the federal Clean Air Act. The proposed rules would remain in effect for a maximum of one year. P. N. Gammelgard, senior vice president for public and environmental affairs of the American Petroleum Institute will face this winter. "Energy officials have been concerned by the trend among power plants to abandon coal and substitute fuel oil, thus increasing demand on the nation's already hard-pressed petroleum supplies."

People Want Scandal In Courts-Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — The Harris poll said Monday that 62 per cent of those it questioned believe "it is time to turn the whole question of Watergate over to the courts and allow the President to concentrate on more important things." The poll said Americans agreed 62-32 per cent with President Nixon's contention that Watergate should be turned over to the courts. A similar finding was reported by the Opinion Research Corp of Princeton, N.J., which said 53 per cent of the people it surveyed wanted the Watergate hearings stopped and turned over to the courts. Despite the findings, the Harris poll reported a 51-45 majority in favor of renewing the Watergate hearings into 1972 campaign "dirty tricks." But a 51-44 majority opposed continued televising of the Washington Senate inquiry.

According to Grojean, "The United Fund is trying to update its procedures, and we feel that many of our Morgan County citizens would like to mail in their contributions to the 1973-74 United Fund. This would save their time as well as our solicitors' time. We are sending along with the letter a postage-free, self-addressed envelope."

Mr. Murphy said, "The letter will show what the individual contributor gave to the 1972-73 campaign. If he gave through his employer the amount of his contribution may not show on the letter, but this is because this information was not available to the United Fund. This year, because of increased costs to our participating agencies, we are asking each contributor to increase his contribution by at least 7 percent over last year. FAMILY PICNIC FOR A.F. RETIREE FRANK CARMEAN

A surprise welcome home picnic was given Sunday, August 26, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carmean and Steven by relatives and friends at Nichols park. Mr. Carmean ended a twenty-year service career with the Air Force July 29. He and his family now reside at 228 West Walnut.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carmean and Steven, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carmean, Donna, Roger and Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. George Carmean, Todd and Kim, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carmean, Angela and Debbie Beeley, Mr. and Mrs. James Carmean, Mike and Danny, Mrs. Madeline Carmean, Mr. and Mrs. Dale McEvers, Bill McEvers, Oliver McEvers.

occurs and virtually all of the dose is excreted...up to a dosage of 500 milligrams daily."

And he said that at the larger doses the body continues to excrete greater amounts than taken in through the ordinary diet for two days after the high doses are discontinued.

"I question whether you should be taking massive doses if you're excreting it," Wagner said.

The leading advocate of massive Vitamin C intake is Dr. Linus Pauling, the California Nobel Prize winner, who recommends daily doses of 250 milligrams to 10 grams.

Wagner, of Ball State University, Muncie, Ind., and his co-workers gave increasingly large doses of ascorbic acid—Vitamin C—to 24 students over a period of six weeks.

The does started at 100 milligrams and increased to 2000 milligrams.

The study found that the amount of ascorbic acid excreted in urine equaled the dose taken up to 500 milligrams a day. At 1000 milligrams, 65 per cent of that ingested was excreted in urine, and 42 per cent of the 2000 milligram dose was excreted.

It is possible, Wagner said, that the remaining amount at the higher levels was excreted in feces, but that it was not possible to measure this.

The scientist emphasized that his was a pilot study and termed it crude. He said it was as important for what it does not indicate as for what it does.

He said he makes no claim for the therapeutic benefits of the vitamin, and added that his findings relate only to healthy subjects.

But he said, "We do believe our data indicate that after seven days on a regimen of as little as 250 milligrams ascorbic acid a day, saturation of tissues

Automakers Intend Further Price Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three of the country's automakers said Tuesday they will probably ask for another price increase soon for their 1974 model autos, on top of the increase being considered now by the government.

Ford, General Motors and American Motors representatives all acknowledged they expect to seek further increases to cover higher material and labor costs. Chrysler is expected to take the same position.

At Cost of Living Council hearing, the four companies said their recently announced price increases will only cover the cost of government-mandated safety and antipollution features, including improvements to bumpers, roofs and seatbelts.

The council called the day-long hearing to consider whether the increases are justified under the new Phase 4 anti-inflation program and to study their over-all impact on the company.

Unless the council blocks the increases, they would go into effect about Sept. 13, although American Motors has asked for an exception to increase its prices beginning Sept. 15.

The council would have to give specific approval to the exception, since Phase 4 requires a 30-day delay before big companies can put their proposed increases into effect.

A spokesman indicated the council may respond to the automakers' price increase request sometime next week.

The council has similar hearings scheduled Thursday and Friday of this week on proposed price increases by 10 steel companies.

The proposed price increases range from Fords $106 average increase per model to American Motors' $61 increase. GM has proposed an increase of $102 and Chrysler $70.

Meanwhile, in Detroit, the United Auto Workers rejected a contract offer by Chrysler Corp., describing it as a "mockery."

SPECIALIST SAYS MISSING SNAKE IS NOT A COBRA

BUFFALO GROVE, Ill. (AP) — Seymour the Deadly, the pet which has given the 15,000 people of Buffalo Grove the creepy-crawly, is really Seymour the Chicken—snake, that is.

A reptile specialist from the Brookfield Zoo said late Monday that Seymour is not a deadly Egyptian cobra but a rat or chicken snake.

Raymond Pauley, curator of reptiles at the zoo, said Seymour's mystique after he examined a skin Seymour shed last week before escaping from his glass cage Saturday and enlivening the weekend of the Chicago suburb.

At one point, at least 50 civil defense workers were out beating the bushes for the "Egyptian cobra" that escaped from owner David Pearson, 18. If the bushes or Seymour offered to beat back, armed men were standing by with orders to "shoot to kill."

Monday, a dead dog was said to be a victim of Seymour's poison until two veterinarians said the dog died of exhaustion in the 90-plus heat wave roasting the Chicago area.

Pauley said Seymour will probably be found basking in the sun somewhere or wandering around a stream.

BERRIGAN'S WIFE TO BE TRIED ON SHOPLIFTING RAP

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (AP) — A woman who identified herself as Sister Elizabeth McAlister, the wife of the Rev. Philip Berrigan, will be tried Sept. 26 in Anne Arundel County District Court on shoplifting charges.

She and another woman, identifying herself as Sister Judith LaFemina, were arrested Monday on a complaint by the security officer of the Sears, Roebuck Co. store here.

The two were alleged to have taken an electric saw, a package of sandpaper and a package of picture frame hangers.

Sister McAlister and Father Berrigan were defendants in the "Harrisburg Seven" conspiracy trial in which they were charged with plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry Kissinger and to destroy underground heating facilities in Washington, D.C.

On Highway 30 near Set Bo, 13 miles southeast of Phnom Penh on the capital's outer defenses, government infantrymen backed by an armored column were driven back two miles by renewed rebel attacks on their exposed southern flank.

Am Rong said there was no immediate food shortage in Phnom Penh, now swollen with refugees to a population of 1 1/2 million. "We have at least a month's supply of rice on hand and other supplies," he said.

Robert Lange Sr. said he believed that others entered in the race planned to use speed gimmicks such as the one in his nephew's racer.

The racer built by James Gronen, 14, of Boulder, was disqualified from the Akron, Ohio, race after officials found an electromagnetic device in the car to give it a boost at the starting line.

"The competition and desire to win among these professionals is intense and has resulted in the development and use of numerous speed gimmicks in the local and national derbies which violated specific derby rules," Lange said.

Gronen lives with his uncle here and his cousin, Robert Lange Jr., who won the 1972 soap box derby. Lange said his son's car did not use an electromagnet and was entirely different from Gronen's.

Lange said he accepted responsibility for determining that Gronen should build and install the electromagnet in the gravity-propelled racer. Derby rules require that cars start without assistance.

Lange's first public comments on the disqualification were made in a letter to the Boulder Jaycees, the local sponsor of the race.

Gronen is reported visiting his hospitalized mother in Wisconsin and has not returned here.

Boulder Dist. Atty. Alex Hunter, whose office had conducted an investigation of the building of the racer, said he would encourage Prosecutor Stephan Gabalac of Summit County, Ohio, which includes Akron, "to bring charges which I would interpret to be theft by deception and contributing to the delinquency of a minor."

Unlike other Derby winning racers, the Lange car was returned to the family. The Gronen car is still in Akron.

Bobby Lange won a $7,500 college scholarship and trophy. Gronen was disqualified before receiving the awards and runner-up Bret Yarbrough, 13, of Elk Grove, Calif., was named winner.

India

Aziz Ahmed, Pakistan's minister of state for foreign affairs, paid tribute to Mrs. Gandhi, Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan and Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman of Bangladesh. He said they were "the real inspirers, the producers, of the agreement."

Although Bangladesh did not take part in the negotiations — it has refused to meet with Pakistan until recognized by Bhutto's government — the Indians sought and received Mujib's approval for the final agreement.

Aziz Ahmed's personal tribute to Mujib in his public remarks at the signing ceremony was considered an indication that Pakistan would eventually recognize Bangladesh.

The Bangladesh government had threatened to try a small group of POWs on war crimes charges for alleged atrocities during the war and the Pakistani military occupation that preceded it.

A member of the Pakistan delegation said India had agreed to release all the Pakistani prisoners except the 195 that Bangladesh said it wanted to try.

But he added that the 195 would remain in India until Pakistan and Bangladesh agree on their fate. He said that means the trials are unlikely ever to take place.

HOLIDAY WEEKEND SEASON'S LAST AT ROODHOUSE PARK

ROODHOUSE — The Roodhouse Community Park board met Aug. 14, with seven members present.

The Park will be closed down Monday through Friday, Aug. 27-31, due to the beginning of school. It will reopen Sept. 1, 2, and 3 for the Labor Day weekend and then close for the season.

The board requests people fishing in the lake to please park along the roadway and not drive cars down to the edge of the water.

It was voted to put up two stop signs and other signs regulating the speed at 10 mph within the park.

The Bangladesh government had threatened to try a small group of POWs on war crimes charges for alleged atrocities during the war and the Pakistani military occupation that preceded it.

A member of the Pakistan delegation said India had agreed to release all the Pakistani prisoners except the 195 that Bangladesh said it wanted to try.

Threat Of Gas Station Protest Evaporates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Threats of Labor Day weekend gas station shutdowns to protest price controls have evaporated, so travelers should find no serious inconvenience in getting fuel, the American Automobile Association reported Tuesday.

The AAA's 13th and final summer nationwide spot checks along major highways and travel destinations found gasoline supplies improved for the eighth straight week.

"This week 58 per cent of stations contacted are operating normally — maintaining hours of operation in effect before the summer fuel pinch and allowing motorists to fill their gas tanks," the AAA reported.

"This compares with 55 per cent normal operation last weekend and 43 per cent as of June 28, the low point of the summer."

The final survey covered 3,981 stations in all states except Alaska. Of these, 2,731 reported their operating plans for the Labor Day weekend and 82 per cent said they would be open for the holiday weekend.

The report said the Denver area continues to show rapid improvement although 55 per cent of the stations are still reported closing from noon Saturday until 7 a.m. Monday.

Rangers Halt 14-Game Skein

BALTIMORE (AP) — Toby Harrah singled home the tie-breaking run in the fifth inning and the Texas Rangers snapped the Baltimore Orioles' 14-game winning streak Tuesday night, pinning a 5-3 defeat on old tormentor Dave McNally.

Harrah's hit scored Ken Suarez and chased McNally, who had won 17 consecutive decisions over the Rangers and their predecessors, the Washington Senators, since 1969.

A two-run homer by Bill Sudakis pulled the Rangers even at 3-3 in the fourth, and they went ahead on the fifth on consecutive singles by Suarez, Dave Nelson and Harrah.

Harrah's sacrifice bunt sent home an unearned run in the seventh following two errors by reliever Bob Reynolds.

Hoosier Enter New Football Era

(One of a Series)
By MIKE HARRIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana University has entered a new era of football which may become known as the Lee Corso or "eyebrows up" era.

Corso, a 37-year-old whirlwind of ideas, enthusiasm and crazy stunts, has become a well-known and controversial part of the IU scene since coming from Louisville in January.

"They've had three winning seasons around here in 27 years. Obviously, we've got to do some things differently," Corso said.

"My coaching is from the eyebrows up 80 per cent of the time. If you can control the mind, the body will come."

The fast-talking Corso compiled a 28-11-3 record at Louisville the past four years. Now he leads a team that is coming off a 5-6 season.

"I have no idea what type of team Indiana will be this fall. I've never coached in the Big Ten before. I know, of course, that the level of Big Ten competition is very high."

But, Corso added, "We are not without some ability of our own. We were left some fine athletes, fine people, as well. We'll be thin and overall a young and inexperienced squad."

Among the assets are 36 returning lettermen, including halfback Ken Starling and fullback Ken St. Pierre, and 270-pound defensive tackle Carl Parzilauskas. If he remains a two-sport athlete, sophomore safety and kick returner Quinn Buckner—guard on the IU basketball team—is another key player.

Corso began fall drills with 10 quarterbacks suited up. But it now appears the battle is between strong-armed junior Willie Jones, attempting to overcome two years of inactivity due to knee injuries; sophomore Bob Kramer, who starred in the spring intrasquad game, and junior college transfer Mike Glazier.

Jones began the pre-season drills as No. 1, but a "minor" sore arm has kept him on the sidelines quite a bit.

Corso said, "I'll find a quarterback. Even if it takes a freshman, I'll develop a quarterback. I won't have to panic. My contract is long enough."

Some pre-season prognosticators have picked the Hoosiers to wind up on the bottom of the Big Ten with a 1-10 record.

"The difference in any conference between the top and bottom teams is a couple of players. That is up to me to motivate those players," Corso said.

Rodney Harris, the man rushed into the quarterback spot when starter Ted McNulty was injured last year, is still in the picture as a two-position player. The 5-10 junior will continue to keep his hand in at quarterback, but will probably start as flanker.

The end positions appear to be in good hands, with sophomore Trent Smock at tight end and sure-handed junior Mike Flanagan at wide receiver.

Returning starters Chuck Sukurs at center and guards Dan Boardman and Dean Shumaker will anchor the offensive line. Parzilauskas, out for a few weeks with a hairline fracture of the right foot, and 290-pound Greg McGuire will front the defense.

Board Vote On Quarterhorse Races In Moline

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Racing Board will vote Thursday at a meeting in Chicago on whether to grant Pioneer Quarterhorse Enterprises, Inc., 12 days of racing beginning Sept. 7 at East Moline Downs.

Jim Ray, president of Pioneer, was granted tentative approval to lease the track which has been closed for three weeks and is under a receiver for an indebtedness of $1.6 million.

The board, however, still needs a quorum vote of four to approve the license. In the meantime, Ray said he would go ahead with plans to stage the first Illinois pari-mutuel quarterhorse meeting.

The decision to hold the Thursday vote was made Tuesday. Originally, a board meeting was planned for Tuesday in Du Quoin, but chairman Anthony Sciarano was detained in Chicago on business and called for a Chicago meeting on Thursday.

The board members expected to attend besides Sciarano, were Mrs. Tish Hewitt of Rock Island, Ray Freeark of Belleville, and William Browder of Winnetka.

Sciarano predicted that the vote for the quarterhorse license would be favorable.

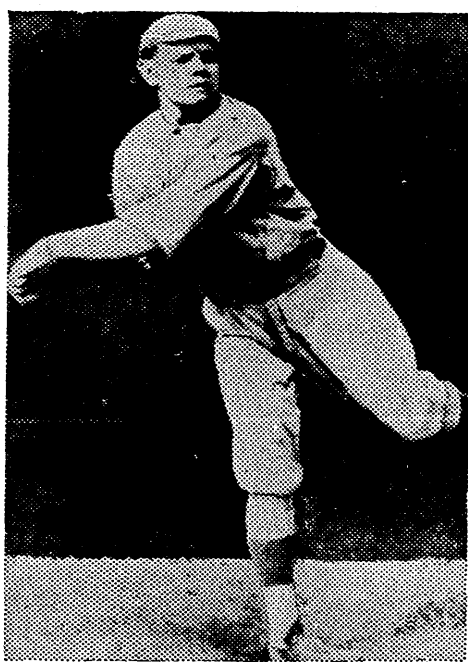

Duncheon Leads Quincy During Finland Tour

HELSINKI (AP) — A 29-point performance by American Lloyd Glover lifted a Finnish team to a 7-4 record. Pete Franco and Paul Kreeke had 14 points each, while Selby Hubbard added 10.

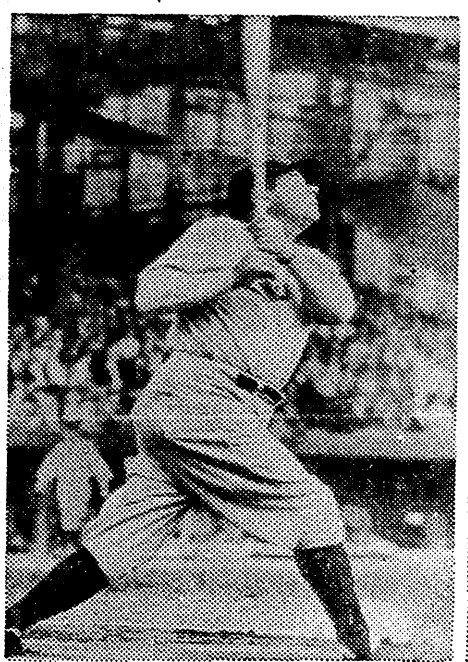

Duncheon averaged 20.9 points per game to top Quincy scorers.

The Hawks, led by Casey Duncheon's 28 points, finished the tour with a 7-4 record. Pete Franco and Paul Kreeke had 14 points each, while Selby Hubbard added 10.

Duncheon averaged 20.9 points per game to top Quincy scorers.

Nitschke Reveals Grid Retirement

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Ray Nitschke, fighting tears not nearly as well as he fought National Football League blockers for 15 years, announced his retirement Tuesday from the Green Bay Packers and insisted he had only one regret.

"I have no complaints and no hard feelings. I'm just glad to have been a Packer," the once matchless middle linebacker told an emotion-packed, long-anticipated, news conference at the club's Lambeau Field office.

"The only regret I have is that I can't turn the clock back to 1958 and become a Packer all over again," said Nitschke, his eyes moist and his voice wavering.

Nitschke, 36, anchored the Green Bay defense through five National Football League championship seasons under Vince Lombardi in the 1960s. Four years ago, the Pro Football Hall of Fame board voted him best middle linebacker of the NFL's first 50 years.

However, he lost his starting job to Jim Carter in 1971. This summer he had been listed behind Carter and second year Larry Hefner at middle linebacker and had seen little action in the Packers' four pre-season games.

"The spirit is still there, but the numbers game got to me," he said. "There's no room on the Packer squad for three middle linebackers, so I'm retiring."

"I knew about this when camp started. But I still counted that something would happen, and I'd be there again to help if they needed me."

Nitschke said he had been contemplating retirement for several years, but "I've always felt I could contribute somewhat."

Coach Dan Devine's absence from the news conference raised many eyebrows, but Devine said later that "nothing should be read into that, certainly."

"It was Ray's retirement, not mine, and I didn't want to detract from it," Devine said. "I felt Ray would be more at ease if I wasn't there."

Nitschke said he had discussed the matter with Devine, and insisted there was no ill feeling between them.

"As I look back, I've been one of the most fortunate athletes who ever played this game," said Nitschke said, a fullback at the University of Illinois. "I've had a tremendous career, and there's no way to describe in words the associations I've had. The championships naturally have been part of it all, but just being part of the Packer organization has been the main thing."

His departure leaves only end Carroll Dale, center Ken Bowman, guard Gale Gillingham and defensive tackle Bob Brown from the Packers' last NFL title season of 1967.

Five Tracks Bid For Classic

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Five racetracks made bids Tuesday to become host of the Hambletonian, harness racing's most prestigious event.

The bidders included William Hayes of Du Quoin, whose family has presented the Hambletonian since 1957; the Syracuse, N.Y., State Fair; the Saratoga, N.Y., Harness Raceway; Liberty Bell Park near Philadelphia, and the Ohio Valley Harness Raceway; Liberty Bell Park near Philadelphia, and the Ohio Valley Harness Racing Association and Latonia Track in Florence, Ky.

The bids were accepted by the Hambletonian Society which will announce its decision Oct. 28 in New York City.

Hayes asked for a five-year contract during which the Du Quoin State Fair would guarantee purses of $50,000 for the Hambletonian and $8,000 for fillies in the secondary event.

The current contract with Du Quoin expires after next year's race.

Swelling the Du Quoin offer is an agreement among several Illinois racetracks to contribute a third of the profits from an extra race granted by state authorities to build the Hambletonian fund.

Orrin Baker, a consulting steward to the Illinois Racing Board, joined in presenting the Du Quoin offer. He said the extra race fund could provide the Hambletonian with about $136,000 a year.

Syracuse, where the race began in 1926, offered $100,000 for the main event and a filly prize of $25,000 under a five-year agreement.

Saratoga guaranteed $150,000 for the Hambletonian and $30,000 for the distaff event. The raceway would put up $90,000 of its money under a three-year contract.

Latonia offered $75,000 for the Hambletonian plus $15,000 for the fillies in either a three or five-year contract.

Liberty Bell offered $115,000 and $10,000 for the filly event plus 1 per cent of the pari-mutuel handle from the race. The group asked for a five-year contract.

Syracuse and Liberty Bell do not have a supporting program of races but would add them.

Max C. Hempt of Mechanicsburg, Pa., president of the society, said after the meeting, "It's rather apparent that whichever one of these bids we accept, the Hambletonian is going to be raced for considerably more money in the future—$200,000 or more."

This year's record purse, supplemented by entry fees and other income, is $144,710.

Society members said the amount of money offered will not be the only consideration in awarding the contract.

Du Quoin is the only bidder which does not have or plan to initiate pari-mutuel betting on the race and some groups believe injecting betting into the Hambletonian would change the race's image.

Billy Or Sonny; Duane Or Larry?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will it be Billy or Sonny? Is Duane going to beat out Larry or will both be in the Washington Redskins backfield?

These are some of the questions being asked by pro football fans in the nation's capital.

Bill Kilmer apparently is Coach George Allen's choice at quarterback because the former UCLA star, now in his 12th season, took the Redskins into the playoffs two years ago and to a 11-3-0 record and the Super Bowl last year in his two years in Washington.

On the other hand, Sonny Jurgensen, starting his 17th pro year but coming off an Achilles tendon tear, is the choice of the fans, based on the standing ovation's he gets as he takes the field during the exhibition season.

Despite his public faith in Kilmer, however, it must be noted that Allen replaced Kilmer with Jurgensen as the starter last year after a loss to New England. It wasn't until Jurgensen tore his Achilles that Kilmer got the job back.

In the case of Larry Brown, last year's NFL Most Valuable Player, Allen has a player who will be unhappy until he gets a contract which he says will make his future secure. He stayed away from camp for 10 days to make his point.

While Brown was holding out, Allen acquired Duane Thomas from San Diego for two high draft choices. In Thomas, the Redskins have a highly skilled running back who refused to play last year.

Many fans believe Allen will use both Brown and Thomas in the same backfield and, although the Redskins' coach said Thomas was merely a replacement for Brown, now he has retreated from that statement and insists he will play it by ear.

The Redskins have an abundance of running backs in Charley Harraway, Brown's blocking partner last season; Moses Denson, a Canadian transplant, and Herb Mul-Key, the free agent flash who made the team last season after walking in off the street.

The offense is capable of controlling the tempo of a game or striking for a score with a single long run or pass because of receivers like All-Pro Charley Taylor, Roy Jefferson and Jerry Smith.

Allen acquired tight end Alvin Reed from Houston to back up Smith and has two youngsters, Paul Staroba and Frank Grant, at the wide receiver spots.

On defense, the Redskins might have some problems at the middle linebacker spot which is probably the only weak link in the operation.

Harold McLinton is slated to fill the slot with Rusty Tillman as his backup although Mo Potton, who has held down the position under Allen the past two years, is still on the team.

To replace All-Pro Jack Pardee, who retired to become a Redskins coach, Allen acquired All-Pro Dave Robinson from Green Bay for the left linebacker position and has Steve Kiner giving Robinson a run for his money. At the right linebacker slot is Chris Hanburger, an All-Pro who takes over Pardee's job as defensive quarterback.

The front four or five will have defensive ends Ron McDole and Verlon Biggs, plus tackles Diron Talbert and Bill Brundige-Manny Sistrunk.

The secondary is established again with Mike Bass and Pat Fischer at the corners and Brig Owens and Ken Houston at the safeties.

One of the weak spots last season and again this spring is the field goal kicking of Curt Knight who booted only 14 of 30 in 1972 and is 5 of 10 in exhibition games.

Open Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — Storm warnings were still up in the tennis world Tuesday but it was all clear for the U.S. Open Tennis Championships opening Wednesday at Forest Hills.

The International Lawn Tennis Federation will make no decision about suspending players who have signed contracts with the newly formed World Team Tennis until at least Sept. 9, the final day of the Open. This means the tournament—this year's biggest tennis show—will be held with the world's top pros and amateurs.

A decision about the eligibility of players who have signed WTT contracts for ILTF tournaments will be made in New York by the ILTF Emergency Committee between Sept. 6-9, meaning the U.S. Open will not be affected, Robert F. Abdesselem of France, a committee member said at a news conference Tuesday.

There had been reports that as many as 20 pros including Wimbledon women's champion Billie Jean King and Australian John Newcome would be barred from the U.S. Open because they had signed contracts with WTT.

A boycott severely depleted the men's division at Wimbledon last June. It stemmed from an ILTF suspension of Niki Pilic who had refused to play in a Yugoslavia Davis Cup match.

Four-Run Fourth Keys Cards' Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Lou Brock's two-run single keyed a four-run St. Louis fourth inning Tuesday night and lifted the Cardinals to an 8-3 victory over the Houston Astros.

In the Cards' big fourth inning, Luis Melendez' single produced the first run and Ken Reitz' grounder scored the second run before Brock clubbed his single up the middle.

St. Louis center fielder Tommie Agee, traded recently by the Astros to St. Louis, hit his first home run as a Cardinal, a solo shot in the fifth inning off Astro starter Jerry Reuss.

St. Louis starter Alan Foster held the Astros to one hit after a three-run Houston uprising in the second inning. Foster now is 11-6 and Reuss is 14-10.

Vikes, Broncos Trade First Line Receivers

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings announced Tuesday that they have traded wide receiver Gene Washington to Denver for wide receiver Rod Sherman and an undisclosed draft choice.

Washington, 28, is a seven-year veteran and began his professional football career when he was drafted on the first round by the Vikings in 1967.

He has a career total of 172 receptions for 3,087 yards, but has been bothered by a foot injury in the last two seasons, when he caught 30 passes.

Sherman, 28, a seven-year veteran from Southern California, is six foot and weighs 190 pounds. He was a future No. 1 pick of the Oakland Raiders in 1966. Sherman played for Oakland in 1967, spent 1968 with Cincinnati, then was reacquired by Oakland in 1969.

Sherman was purchased by Denver in 1972 and led Denver in receiving last season with 38 catches for 661 yards and three touchdowns. During his pro career, Sherman has 104 receptions for 1,558 yards and five touchdowns.

NEW YORK (AP) — Wayne Garrett's 10th home run of the season broke a sixth inning tie and triggered a five-run explosion that carried the New York Mets to a 8-6 victory over the San Diego Padres Tuesday night.

The score was 2-2 in the sixth when Garrett tagged loser Clay Kirby for his homer with one out. Then three straight singles by Felix Millan, Rusty Staub and Claude Jones made it 4-2 and finished Kirby, 7-15.

Hodges and Don Hahn added run-scoring singles against reliever Mike Caldwell, and an error by Dave Roberts gave New York its fifth run of the inning.

Tigers Sport Exciting Style

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Auburn Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan says the Tigers will have "a good football team this year, one that will be competitive and colorful."

But a lot of the team's success depends on sophomore quarterback Randy Walls recovering from knee surgery, Jordan said. Walls, injured during last season's Gator Bowl, missed spring practice.

Auburn began the 1972 season as an underdog and wound up the No. 5 team in the nation. The Tigers finished with a 10-1 record, including a 24-3 Gator Bowl victory over Colorado and a 17-16 triumph over cross-state rival Alabama. Louisiana State handed the Tigers their only loss.

Some 30 lettermen, including seven starters on offense and six on defense, reported Monday for the first day of practice in preparation for Auburn's season opener against Oregon State Sept. 15 at Birmingham, Ala.

Jordan points out that there are only three seniors on the entire offensive unit. "Basically we are a young team," Jordan said.

Jordan says one of his chief concerns as fall practice begins is the kicking game. "I would not be surprised to see the trend toward blocking kicks, not because we blocked two punts and an extra point against Alabama, but this is a time of the specialists." Auburn's two kicking specialists graduated.

Twitchell And Robinson Let Phils Nip Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill Robinson's seventh home run in the last 10 games backed up the four-hit shutout pitching of Wayne Twitchell as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the San Francisco Giants 1-0 Tuesday night.

Twitchell, 1-6, struck out eight and walked two. Juan Marichal, 10-11, allowed only five hits and lost his second straight 1-0 decision.

Robinson has 15 runs batted in during the last 10 baseball games, socking 13 hits in 38 at bats for a .342 average.

PROSPECTUS —

There's got to be way to beat Cowboys in playoffs. Last three seasons, best in club history, stymied by losses to Dallas. Might not be so easy to rack up fourth division title, though 49ers are solid on paper. Dick Nolan's got indecision at quarterback and bolstering running back spots as his main problems.

OFFENSE

PASSING — As long as he can function, 38-year-old John Brodie's got to be the man. But that doesn't do much for morale of Steve Spurrier, who flutters the ball, still manages to win games. Good

RECEIVING — Exciting corps of Ted Kwalick at tight end and Gene Washington, Terry Beasley in wide spots is prong of attack. All were No. 1 draft picks. First two already superstars. Now Beasley, hurt rookie year, gets his chance. The little redhead has to beat out versatile John Isenberg as starter. Excellent

RUNNING — In year when NFL had 10 thousand-yarders, Vic Washington and Larry Schreiber together didn't gain that much. Club badly needs balance, but there's no help in sight. Schreiber's a small fullback; Washington's a scabbard type. Ken Willard got old. Fair

LINE — This cast was made for pass protection. Big bulky guys starting with Forrest Blue as all-pro center. Scythe-like guy up front is guard Woody Peoples, who should start getting more recognition. Vulnerable spot may be left tackle, where Len Rohde, always a good one, is 35 and in 14th season. Very good

DEFENSE

LINE — The inside positions could be soft. Earl Edwards was hurt some of '72 and Charlie Krueger probably shouldn't be trying his 15th campaign. If little brother Rolfe were to develop suddenly, it would be good excuse to quit. The ends are topflight, handled by Cedric Hardman and Tommy Hart. Good

LINEBACKING — Need a strong comeback by Frank Nunley to perk up the middle. No more rugged pair of outside linebackers than Dave Wilcox, in perennial all-pro class, and Skip Vanderbundt. If Ed Beard's knee comes around, he'll challenge puddy Nunley. Good

SECONDARY — There's room for rookie Mike Holmes, a blue chipper, to break in immediately, either at corner (with Bruce Taylor shifting to safety) or as a safety mate for hard-hitting Mel Phillips. At 35, Jim Johnson still the class corner back. Good

KICKING — Jim McGinn was just so-so as punting regular for first time. He's got to get more distance. Bruce Gossett is old reliable on placements. Return unit features fine tandem of Bruce Taylor, Ralph McGill. Good

PREDICTION

Unless they can jack up running attack, 49ers might find it rocky. That defensive middle looks vulnerable, too — second in NFC West.

HANK AARON may be unorthodox enough to hit off his front foot but he still has a lot to smile about as he nears Babe Ruth's career home run record.

Aaron Rips 706; Braves Fall 9-6

ATLANTA (AP) — Henry Aaron hit his 706th career home run to move within eight of Babe Ruth's all-time record, but the Chicago Cubs scored three runs in the eighth inning to beat the Atlanta Braves 9-6 Tuesday night.

Aaron drove in four runs altogether, including a three-run shot in the first inning off Cubs starter Milt Pappas. The 39-year-old superstar drilled a 1-0 pitch over the left-center field fence, 395 feet away, for his 33rd homer this year as he closed in on Ruth's monumental record of 714.

The Cubs rallied in the eighth to erase Aaron's hitting exploits with an RBI bouncer.

The Braves scored four runs in the first as Ralph Garr hit a home run before Aaron delivered. Aaron then drove in his fourth run of the evening, capping a two-run Braves' sixth

Penn State Looks Tough Once Again

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tucked away in the Nittany Valley of central Pennsylvania, Penn State can be a hard place to locate. However, the sports writers and broadcasters who vote in the national football rankings usually manage to find it.

Five times in Coach Joe Paterno's seven years at the helm the Nittany Lions have cracked The Associated Press' Top Ten, and they'll give it a good run this fall. Whether they make it or not, they should wind up with their 35th consecutive non-losing season and their ninth Eastern championship in 13 years.

"The morale was good during spring practice, there was a lot of enthusiasm and they appear to like each other. That's a big plus," says Paterno, who has a brilliant 63-13 record.

To help soften the loss of quarterback John Hufnagel, linebacker John Skorup and defensive end Bruce Bannan, there are some other big plusses—running back John Cappelletti, linebacker Ed O'Neil and defensive tackle Randy Crowder.

It's not all roses, though. There are several knee cases, including Crowder, and quarterback Tom Shuman got in for only eight passes and nine rushes last fall.

And then there's the Sept. 15 opener at Stanford, which Paterno says "should provide an opening game comparable to Tennessee." That was Penn State's only regular-season defeat last year.

With the Lambert Trophy virtually conceded to Penn State, much of the preseason talk has been devoted to finding a Lambert runner-up. Most frequently mentioned are West Virginia, Boston College, Syracuse and Temple among the independents and Yale, Penn and Cornell in the Ivy League.

According to Coach Bobby Bowden, West Virginia "will be playing with new faces and inexperience, but the potential is there. I think the story in a nutshell is how long will it take for us to mature."

The Mountaineers have one of the country's most explosive long-distance receivers in flanker Danny "Lightning" Buggs, but only three starters return on defense.

Boston College returns 16 of the top 22 on both offense and defense, highlighted by a veteran backfield. Tailback Mike Esposito set a B.C. sophomore rushing record of 930 yards last fall.

Last season was only the second under .500 for Ben Schwartzwalder at Syracuse as the club set records for fumbles, penalties and points allowed. This is Ben's 25th and last campaign and the old Marine has gone back to basics—a straight T offense with a full-house backfield on occasion.

Watch linemen Dave Lapham and Mike McNeely on offense, linebacker Ray Preston on defense.

Next: Southwest.

Rico Carty, a former Brave, drove in four Chicago runs with a two-run homer in the first inning off Atlanta starter Ron Schueler and a two-run single in the fifth. In Aaron's other appearances, he reached on an error in the second inning and grounded into a forceout in the fourth.

Sharp, Melton Pace Sox By Brewers, 6-4

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie outfielder Bill Sharp stole home on the front end of a double steal and Bill Melton hit his 17th homer Tuesday night to help Steve Stone and the Chicago White Sox to a 6-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the White Sox. The Brewers scored two runs off Stone, 5-11, in the third inning when Pedro Garcia beat out a bunt single and came in on Dave May's 20th homer.

The White Sox went ahead to stay in their half of the third with a three-run rally against Skip Lockwood. A hit batsman, and singles by Pat Kelly and Sharp filled the bases with no outs.

Lockwood walked Jerry Hairston to force in a run. Melton's sacrifice fly drove in the tying run and Sharp then scored the lead run when he and Carlos May worked a double steal.

Melton's home run in the sixth gave Chicago its fourth run of the game and the Brewers came back with a run in the seventh on George Scott's RBI single.

The White Sox added two insurance runs in the eighth on Tony Muser's two-run double. Garcia added a bases-empty homer for Milwaukee in the ninth.

Melton's homer, which sailed into the left field upper deck, came with the bases empty in the sixth, increased the Chicago lead to 4-2 and neutralized a seventh-inning Milwaukee rally when the Brewers knocked out Stone.

Joe Lahoud carried this run across. He doubled to right and scored on a two-out single by George Scott. Cy Acosta relieved Stone, closed the rally by retiring Don Money on a popup and gave up a consolation homer to Pedro Garcia, his No. 12, with the bases empty in the ninth.

Chicago scored its final two runs off reliever Chris Short in the eighth. Hairston doubled Muser brought both of them home with a double to deep right center.

New Saints' Coach Asks For Time

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — get it going. It's going to take a little time....We have some good football players, but we don't have enough of them, yet. And that will take time."

North—hired as offensive coordinator just before the beginning of this season—was named head coach of the Saints Monday night.

North, 51, of Gilliam, La., declined to outline any changes planned for the Saints, saying he wanted to talk to his players and assistant coaches first.

Roberts, 40, was on the last year of a three-year contract. His teams had won eight games against 39 losses after he took over from Tom Fears during the 1970 season. The Saints were 2-11-1 last year and had lost their first four exhibition games this year.

North was relaxed and genial in his first public comments as a head coach Tuesday.

"I'm elated over the opportunity to get this thing going," he said. "I think that we will

No Place To Go But Up For 'Cats

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern University's Wildcats don't have anywhere to go except up in the Big Ten Football standings and new coach Johnny Pont figures they will go up, considerably.

Pont, switching here after an eight-season regime at Indiana, inherited from Alex Agase, a Northwestern squad which finished last in the 1972 conference race but could have sharp offensive punch this fall.

"Ohio State and Michigan come back loaded again, but the rest of the conference appears in enough of a transition stage that everybody else has a first division chance," said Pont.

"I like to think that Northwestern can reach the first division, even though it would mean a terrific climb."

Agase left for Purdue after a 2-9 overall record and last-place 1-8 mark in the Big Ten race last season.

It's a tough coaching row to hoe at Northwestern, the Big Ten's only privately-endowed school with a much higher scholarship cost than at the conference's state-supported members.

Agase had a nine-season Wildcat record of 32-58-1. Ara Parseghian, Agase's predecessor, left Northwestern for Notre Dame after an eight-season mark of 36-35-1.

Pont brings a 31-51-1 record from Indiana with one achievement never recorded by Parseghian or Agase at Northwestern, a Big Ten title share and Rose Bowl trip by his 1967 Hoosier Cardiac Kids.

"If a coach makes a change, it's a lot better if he does it within his own conference," said Pont.

"He knows his problems right off and is better prepared to meet them. I think it's so much easier for me to be moving from Indiana to Northwestern than it is shifting from Yale to Indiana."

One problem confronting Pont at Northwestern is a traditional lack of depth behind usually fine first-line material.

Hamby Favorite Gets Isolated

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — to Tamerlane in the Yonkers Futurity, first leg of the Triple Crown for 3-year-old trotters.

The Hambletonian and the Kentucky Futurity are the other jewels of the crown. Tamerlane went lame and could not continue to be pointed for the Hambletonian.

Knightly Way, drawing the No. 2 post position, is listed at 9-5 in the unofficial odds for the betless race. Arnis Almahurst, sensational winner the last two weeks at Springfield and Indianapolis and credited with the best mile of the season at two flat, is on the rail and 2-1.

Arnie had a slight cough when he was shipped to DuQuoin last week but soon got over it. Veterinarian Tom Dunkin took his temperature Tuesday and it was normal.

With the field of 11 colts, three geldings and two fillies healthy for the big event, the only unfinished business concerned veteran driver Billy Haughton. He must choose between Imperial Yankee or Keystone Lord. He is listed as driver for both.

The first mile heat of the Hambletonian will be at 3:05 p.m. EDT with the second an hour later. A third, if needed, will follow after another hour.

The first horse to win two heats takes the $72,355 top prize. There is $36,177 for second, $17,362 for third, $11,576 for fourth and $7,235 for fifth.

Rounding out the field are Chico, Keystone Wart, Fetisil Flirth Fairmont Hanover, Placate, Lucky Hill, Florida, Hambletonian, called the Kentucky Derby of harness racing. He has won eight of nine starts this season and finished second

Even 'Immortality' Not Everlasting

NEW YORK — (NEA) — How good was Babe Ruth? Example: When Ruth hit 60 homers in 1927, his total represented nearly one-seventh of all homers hit in the entire American League that year. Ruth was such a Colossus that a league-leader today would have to hit about 200 homers to bestride the field as Ruth did.

For decades, Ruth's record of 714 career regular-season home runs appeared untouchable; it was nearly 200 more than the 524 hit by the second-place man, Jimmie Foxx. The National League record was a paltry 511, by Mel Ott.

Ruth could also hit for average and has a .342 career mark. With customary braggadocio he once replied to someone who suggested he might have been able to hit .500: "Hell, I coulda hit .600 easy, if I had gone for them singles. But the people wer payin' to see me hit them home runs."

He was also a marvel as a pitcher. He won 23 games in 1916 and 24 in 1917. He compiled a 94-46 record over four years, with a 2.28 earned run average. He was 3-0 with an 0.87 ERA in World Series play. His World Series record of 29 and two-thirds scoreless innings pitched stood for 40 years. Eight times he pitched head-to-head against Walter Johnson, one of the all-time great pitchers, and Ruth won six, three by 1-0.

Ruth told people that his greatest thrill in baseball was when, in a key ninth-inning situation, he struck out the feared Tigers' threesome: Bobby Veach, Sam Crawford and Ty Cobb.

Cobb, in fact, always had trouble hitting Ruth. And when Ruth became a hitter to rival—or surpass—Cobb, it was easy to see why the frenetically competitive Cobb would enjoy getting Ruth's eminently easy goat. Cobb would jibe Ruth that he looked like a beer barrel on two straws. Ruth grew enraged.

Rube Bressler, a fine outfielder of those days, recalls Ruth: "He went on the ball field like he was playing in a cow pasture and before cows. He was never nervous. He played by instinct, sheer instinct. He wasn't smart, he didn't have any education, but he never made a wrong move on the baseball field."

"He became a great judge of a fly ball, never threw to the wrong base when he was playing the outfield, terrific arm, good base runner could hit the ball twice as far as any other human being. He was like a damn animal. He had that instinct. They know when it's going to rain, things like that. Nature, that was Ruth."

It was his hitting, though, that in the end created and perpetuated the epic hero Ruth, a man who became world famous. One legendary story concerns Japanese troops during World War II. They shouted to the American soldiers what they considered the supreme insult: "To hell with Babe Ruth." Some eight years after Ruth had retired.

Even today, ask a young British taxi driver which American athlete he is familiar with and he'll start with "Babe Ruth." And maybe end there, too.

All because Ruth could propel a spheroid great distances by flailing a piece of lumber. But how he did it!

In "Baseball: The Golden

Age," historian Harold Seymour describes the magic: "... In a 'closed stance' he gripped a heavy (42-ounce) bat at the end of the handle and moved it back and forth slowly and easily, the way a cat lashes its tail, as he peered over his shoulder awaiting the pitch.

"He swung the bat from his shoestrings, quick and rhythmic with a little upward arc. When he hit one over the fence he jogged around the bases, with little mincing steps, his arms bent, elbows close to the body, and tipped his cap as he crossed home plate.

"He was awesome even in failure ... The crowd shuddered and buzzed: 'What if he had connected?'"

Ruth said he copied his swing after Shoeless Joe Jackson's. "His was the perfectest," Ruth once told Grantland Rice. At bat, he once told a Sport Magazine writer: "I don't try to out-guess the pitcher. I think about the pork chops I had the night before and if there shoulda been more salt in the barbecue sauce ... Or if I look good in a tux ... But the second the pitcher rears back, everything goes out of mind but the ball ..."

His wayward ways off the field and wondrous on the field amazed even Cobb. Cobb wrote: "I've never seen such an appetitive. Ruth would start shoveling down the victuals in the morning and never stop. I've seen him at midnight, propped up in bed, order six huge club sandwiches and put them away along with a platter of pigs knuckles and a pitcher of beer. And all the time he'd be smoking a big black cigar. Next day he'd hit two or three home runs and trot around the bases, complaining all the way of gas pains and a bellyache."

In 1925 Ruth almost died. The public story circulated around the world was that he had a stomach-ache after having eaten 12 hot dogs and drunk 12 bottles of soda pop. Others, though, said it was from a Gargantuan drunk. While some whispered he had been struck by a social disease.

Ruth's unbridled appetites were matched by his cavalier misbehavior, which included run-ins with Commissioner Judge Landis and Yankee owners and managers. He also had fist fights with opponents as well as teammates.

His ambition was to manage a big-league team. He never did. Owners asked: "How could he manage a team if he couldn't manage himself?" He became an embittered man, believing baseball had forsaken him and died of throat cancer in 1948 at the relatively young age of 53.

In the end, this wildly improbable and beloved public figure was a mere mortal. As mortal as the man who will break Ruth's career home run record, Henry Aaron. As mortal as the man who held that record before Ruth, someone named Cactus Cravath.

Smith Blasts Boston Fans

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — At approximately the same time Reggie Smith was firing his blast at Boston, saying the city is racist and he wants to be traded, a fellow player of his with the Red Sox, also black, was getting a letter from an official of another club.

The man writing the letter was Frank Lane of the Milwaukee Brewers and the player he was communicating with was Tommy Harper, a former employee.

Frank Lane has nearly 50 years experience in baseball. He has the title of vice president, special assignments, with the Brewers now, but he was Milwaukee's general manager when he had this little problem with Tommy Harper three years ago.

Lane was trying to sign Harper for a figure he had in mind and Harper had a completely different one in his mind. That's what the problem was all about.

They Talk Awhile They talked awhile back and forth, Harper concentrating on some of the promises made him by another Brewers' official, no longer with the club, and Lane pointing out he didn't necessarily feel bound to any of those promises.

Finally, Lane, who has a sensitive ear for such things, felt Harper was introducing an extraneous issue into their discussion—color.

"Look," said Lane, "you can say anything you like and argue any fact you want, but don't think the difference in your skin makes any difference to me. It doesn't. With me, it never has and never will. When I was with the White Sox, they threatened to throw a picket line around the ball park unless I'd sign a black ballplayer. I told them to go right ahead and do it. When I found the black ballplayer I honestly felt could help us, I was threatened by the other side. I laughed at them and told them the same thing—go ahead and do what they like. I still was going to do what I thought was right, and I did. I got the black ballplayer—the very first one in Chicago. I got a lot more of them, too."

"Well, I didn't know," said Harper.

He Was Too Young "I know you didn't, you were too young," said Lane. "All you have to do is look up my track record beginning with a ballplayer by the name of Minnie Minoso."

Eventually, Harper signed with the Brewers and he and Lane became good friends.

But Frank Lane has never allowed friendship to stand in the way of business and during the 1971 World Series he dealt Harper and three others to the Red Sox for George Scott, Jim Lonborg, Ken Brett, Billy Conigliare, Joe Lahoud and catcher Don Pavlovich.

That had something to do with what Lane was writing Harper the other day.

He was congratulating the Red Sox leftfielder on how well he has been going lately and how smoothly he has made the adjustment in Boston.

This all was taking place right about the time Reggie Smith was being quoted in Anaheim, Calif., on how difficult it was being a black ballplayer in Boston. Sometime earlier Rico Petrocelli had said it was tough being a white ballplayer there also, and he, like Reggie Smith, wanted to be traded somewhere else.

Frank Lane laughs when he hears this.

They'd Beg to Come Back "If those two guys would spend a couple weeks with the Texas Rangers, they'd beg to come back to Boston," he says. "We've gotten a number of ballplayers from the Red Sox and when some of them have peculiarities, we figure they'll get over it. We know the reason for those peculiarities. They've been treated too well by Mr. Tom Yawkey and Mr. Dick C'Connell. Don't take my word for it. Ask somebody like George Scott."

A few months back, after Bill Russell was named general manager and head coach of Seattle's Super Sonics in the NBA, he also took a rip at Boston on the subject of racism. One theory has it Reggie Smith said what he did only because Bill Russell said it first.

"I think Bill was referring to some of the prejudice against him earlier in his career, say 15-17 years ago," said Red Auerbach, the Boston Celtics general manager at Marshfield, Mass., where he runs Camp Millford for young basketball players.

Duffy, Error Help Indians To 4-3 Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Duffy knocked in two runs and the Cleveland Indians took advantage of loose Kansas City fielding to beat the Royals 4-3 Tuesday night.

The Indians scored a run in the first inning on a run-scoring single by John Lowenstein.

An error charged to third baseman Paul Schaaf led to two unearned runs in the sixth when the Indians scored three times for a 4-0 lead and kayoed Drago, 12-13.

Cleveland starter Tom Timmerman, 8-4, was taken out of the game in the eighth in favor of Ken Sanders, who gave up a three-run homer to Fran Healy.

Iowa Coach Sees Improved Season

(One in a Series)
By DAN EVEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Two years ago Iowa's football fortunes hit bottom with a 1-10 mark, but times are a-changing for the Hawkeyes.

Coach Frank Lauterbur talks about his 1973 clubs as if good times are coming—and coming real soon.

"This could be a real good team," says Lauterbur. "We're young, but we've got a lot of talent on the squad. We'll win more games than we did last year (3)."

The reasons for optimism are evident: —Thirty-seven returning lettermen—including 12 who are sophomores—from last year's 3-7-1 club.

—The makings of a potent offense with plenty of depth at quarterback and running backs.

—A defense that could be better than in 1972 when it allowed just 18.9 points a game and played strong games against nationally-ranked Ohio State and Penn State.

One major question Lauterbur has to answer is who'll quarterback what could be an explosive offense.

Three quarterbacks started last year—and all three are on hand again.

Sophomore Butch Caldwell is running No. 1 off a strong showing in the spring. He started the final four games of 1972.

Also in the picture are Kyle Skogman, who was granted another year of eligibility under the Big Ten Conference's newly adopted red-shirt rule, and junior Bobby Ousley.

"All three possess the experience and leadership needed to win the job," says Lauterbur. "We'll just have to wait and see."

Whoever gets the nod will have to perk up the Hawkeyes' offense. Iowa was last in the Big Ten in that category in 1972 and managed only 9.9 points a game.

"It won't take us long to find out if we can play," says Lauterbur. Iowa opens at home Sept. 15 against Michigan and plays powerhouses UCLA and Penn State on the road in successive weeks.

Last year's top three rushers graduated, but Lauterbur f the running game should strong.

Starting fall drills, sophomores Mark Fetter, Phil I man and Rodney Wellin comprised the No. 1 backfield and they are backed up three other sophs.

Brian Rollins, last year's receiver, heads an end c that also includes veterans Calabka, Ike White and St Paulson.

Lauterbur also sees improvement in the offensive line trouble spot the last two years.

The defensive picture bright with six starters. One early fall casualty, however, is Bobby Elliott, taken as a starter at cornerback, broke an arm.

"Our strength on defense in our experience," Lauterbur says. "We think we could have an excellent defense if we some depth in our defense line."

Heading the experienced defense is sophomore linebacker Andre Jackson, who led conference in tackles a year ago, and Dan Dickel, MVP in 1972, and backs I Penney and Earl Douthitt.

Rupp Gets Post On Kentucky Colonels Board

CINCINNATI (AP) — Former University of Kentucky basketball Coach Adolph Rupp became the only male board member Tuesday of the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association.

"It's gonna be interesting to sit here and be the only man and take orders from a bunch of girls. Of course I've been taking orders from one for some 36-37 years. I think I can take it," the 72-year-old Rupp said.

The 10-member board of directors is headed by Ellie Brown, who owns 50.5 per cent of the team.

Rupp, who still has two years left on his contract as president of the Memphis Tams of the ABA, said that he will be working chiefly here and in Lexington, Ky.

Roughing It In Colorado Fun For Cass Group

BEARDSTOWN — The majestic "high country" of Colorado, particularly the Rocky mountain area around Estes Park, and its environs, has impressed four Methodist Youth Fellowship youngsters and their chaperones on a hiking, camping and sightseeing trip.

The four youths are: Brian Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ball, 101 Myrtle, a BHS sophomore; Tom Coats, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Coats, 306 W. 8th, a junior; Steve Sloan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sloan, 405 E. Third, a junior; and Lynn Herzberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Herzberger, a junior, who lives at Bluff Springs.

Mrs. B. J. Herzberger, wife of the local insurance man, and a Beardstown part time teacher, was the chaperone. The party was joined by Tom Schaeffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schaeffer, 210 E. 11th street, a recent graduate of the University of Illinois, now on a motorbike trip of his own; and by Wendall Funk, formerly assistant Cass county farm adviser, and now proprietor of a rental store for recreational equipment, and a mountain guide at Grand Lake, Colorado.

Mrs. Herzberger was making a fifth trip sponsored by the Methodist Youth Fellowship. Previously she had been to Nova Scotia, the Black Hills, the Colorado area and The St. Lawrence Seaway tour.

Bj maintained a daily diary of the trip from Beardstown from the day camping equipment, including tents, sleeping bags, food, and clothing were packed into the Herzberger van for the start, to the day 12 days later when the homecoming occurred.

Her vivid descriptions of the early morning hikes and motor trips in the mountains and along the trails, and of the experiences in camp, of the birds and animals sighted and encountered and of the breathtaking views from spectacular points of vantage, take up a 14 page report.

The party was fortunate in having the services of Mr. Funk, the former Cass countian, who was able to help plan the visits to the most interesting scenes, the most remote camping areas, and to supervise the safety precautions for the group, each being a so-called "tenderfoot."

Cold weather and snow did not hamper the Beardstownians, but, in fact, added to the enjoyment and enhanced the appreciation for the mountains, the woods and the ice-crusted streams.

Place names such as Trail Ridge Road, Lulu City, Big Thompson Canyon, Grand Lake, The Adams Tunnel, Arapahoe National Park, Monarch Lake LaPoudre Pass, and many others give evidence of the territory covered and the miles, afoot and by car, registered on their meters.

They prepared their own fires, cooked their own meals, arranged for their own personal comforts and attended their own scratches.

The discovery of a fawn in the woods and the sight of beautiful birds, scampering chipmunks and other denizens of the mountains proved thrilling experiences to be shared with each other at the campfire, or in the dim light of their cabin after nightfall.

One of the many new experiences was a three mile hike to a snow-filled valley for instructions in the art of skiing, with a guide demonstrating the skills taking turns and remaining upright on the downhill grades.

"Ask anyone of us about the trip" Mrs. Herzberger wrote, "and you will find we all agree it was really different, most enjoyable and that we were really lucky to have these experiences."

The Methodist Youth Fellowship annually sponsors the trip in recognition of the work of its members supporting church charities such as the Chaddock school in Quincy, the Baby Fold at Normal and others. To be eligible members must meet commitments in the sponsorship of these worthwhile Methodist projects.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29—Born today, you are a person of modest temperament, given to the slow evaluation of situations and circumstances. Definitely not one who can be counted on for the quick decisions or the rapid entry into activity, you are respected, rather, for the deliberate way in which you take problems under advisement and the slow and easy way in which you weigh your involvements before rather than after the fact. You have little understanding of rashness in anyone, for it, above all things, is completely alien to your nature.

You are by nature an organizer. A gifted student who knows how to gather needed material and from it formulate and execute plans for the achievement of given goals, you are never caught without at least a rudimentary notion as to how to get from "here" to "there." With an excellent memory and a highly reflective mind, you are well equipped to handle any situation which calls for the assimilation and arrangement of facts.

You have considerable psychic powers and have been known to foresee the future with reasonable accuracy. Indeed, there are those who would drape you in the prophet's cloak if you would allow them to. You realize, however, that a great part of your ability to predict is, in fact, your ability to remember the past, observe the present, and put two and two together.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, August 30
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Exceeding sensitivity at this time could cause you considerably more harm than good. Keep alert to circumstances as they are — without any exaggeration.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Reflect on certain decisions of the past. You may be able to discover where mistakes were made — mistakes which can be avoided this time around.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Keep your mind open to suggestions, even from those who have never in the past given you advice you could possibly accept. Times have changed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Recognize a new talent in yourself and begin at once to develop it. Take care, however, not to exaggerate your ability to train yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) — Allow your good taste in matters of dress and grooming to guide you to the making of an excellent impression on a man of influence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Fight against any temptation to live in the past today. Now is the time to take advantage of present-day sunshine and make hay!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — If you refuse to remain open to discussion, you are not very likely to overcome your present problems regarding ticklish financial matters.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Purpose and the determination to attain it: these are what will carry you far this morning. Afternoon hours are calculated to encourage you to continue.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — If you've been moving about from place to place lately, now is the time you'll grow tired of it. The nomad's life is not for you—at least not now!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Consider the natural inclinations of others before you encourage them to join you in a new venture. You may be taking on nothing but problems.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Work to develop present skills rather than to acquire new ones. You can do much to help others get ahead — but you can do even more to help yourself!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Take care that you don't try to burn your candle at both ends. Get the rest you need; develop a calm, easy-going temperament — starting now.

Business—Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Despite uncertainties in international economics, numerous U.S. firms are going ahead with overseas acquisition plans, a Midwest research organization reports.

Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City surveyed 1,300 firms and about 20 per cent responded. Results were reported in a study entitled "A Profile of U.S. Corporate Growth: 1973."

The survey found about 75 per cent of the responding firms planned to make acquisitions this year. About one-third of those involved foreign acquisitions, despite uncertainties over exchange rates, the balance of payment situation and the use of the dollar as principal means for financing foreign trade.

About 80 per cent of the firms that already have foreign operations indicated they planned to expand them this year.

Gary R. Nuss, who directed the MRI study, said the sampling included public and private firms, those with domestic, international and multinational operations, and both manufacturing and nonmanufacturing concerns. The study was sponsored by Corporate Diversification, Ltd., New York, through a grant to MRI, a private, nonprofit organization.

Firms surveyed showed little concern about effects of the first re-evaluation of the dollar. Only 14 per cent said re-evaluation would be unfavorable. Most felt it would have no effect and about one-third said it would be favorable.

The survey was taken prior to the 1973 devaluation, but Nuss said the 1973 devaluation would not concern corporate planners any more than the earlier changes.

The survey showed firms put little short-run emphasis on President Nixon's foreign policy moves toward China and Russia. But about half the respondents, although seeing no short-run gains because of the detente with the Soviet Union, saw major opportunities opening by 1975.

Nuss said only a minute number of firms regard the expanded European Common Market as a threat to their own growth. He said changes in the Common Market were overwhelmingly viewed as favorable.

The survey showed 95 per cent of the firms expected at least 15 per cent rate of return on overseas investments, with domestic rates of return several percentage points lower. Nearly a third demanded a 25 per cent return overseas and 57 per cent wanted at least 20 per cent.

Nuss said if the 1973 devaluation has an effect on corporate planning, it may be in this area, with planners stiffening their position on expected returns from established overseas operations.

He said larger firms were skewed toward the upper ranges on expected return, smaller firms toward the lower end.

The 1973 survey again showed Western Europe to be the overseas area believed to have the greatest potential for American firms. But new emphasis was put on Latin America, especially Brazil, and the Far East. Although the African continent as a whole was not viewed favorably, South Africa was singled out by 4 per cent of the respondents as a favorable area of investment.

Nuss said businessmen think of markets as people, not governments, and the people of Russia and China have much less wherewithal for the pur-

Americans, Thais Start Specialty Vegetable Farm

By ROBERT KAYLOR

BAN KAEW, Thailand (UPI)

A group of Americans and Thais have banded together to put quick-frozen specialty vegetables from the River Kwai of World War II fame on American tables.

A few miles upstream from the spot where the Japanese forced Allied prisoners of war to construct the "death railway" bridge immortalized in the movies, they have started an experimental farm. It is the brainchild of Dick Sandler, 29, Boston. He served as a Peace Corps official in Thailand but branched out on his own two years ago after deciding that traditional approaches to foreign aid weren't helping.

Sandler says the U. S. agricultural programs emphasize traditional crops, such as rice, which help the military government here earn more money but do nothing for the average peasant.

"I maintain that private enterprise can do more for development of the country than U. S. aid—or, for that matter, any other foreign assistance agency," says Sandler who opened his farm one year ago.

Thais Hold Control Sandler organized a company owned by about 80 Americans and Thai shareholders, with the controlling interest in Thai hands and total capital of $100,000, a small amount by aid standards. He also enlisted the support of Gen. Charn Angsuthote, head of Thailand's budget bureau.

The farm started on a 30-acre site in Kanchanaburi province next to the Burmese border, a backwater area except for natives and some tourists who ride the train 80 miles from Bangkok to see the famed bridge and the POW cemeteries nearby.

So far, the farm has concentrated on such crops as canteloupes, mushrooms and rare species of orchids to see how they fare in Thailand's tropical climate. Sandler hopes to have a plant by next year and to start area farmers growing cash crops for freezing by then.

"Compare our $100,000 with the American Agency for International Development (AID) which can throw away that much in a day," says Sandler, who speaks Thai fluently and came here in 1966 as a Fulbright scholar in economic research.

Follows Taiwan Plan "With limited funds, you really have to think and develop new ways of growing things," he said. "AID figures it spends $50,000 a year for each American staff expert sent to Thailand. Our whole capitalization is the cost of just two of those guys, and what do they accomplish?"

In planning his project, Sandler took a page from Taiwan's economic book. It sells about $100 million a year in canned mushrooms, bamboo shoots, asparagus and pineapples in the United States. He decided to do Taiwan one better with quick freezing and already has had some luck with mushrooms.

Sandler sees potential markets for frozen snow peas and baby corn, tender two-inch ears peculiar to Thailand and popular with Westerners.

Sandler originally saw the farm operating at a profit at the end of one year but ran into plant diseases and insect problems.

"We would be making money now had we planted things we knew would come up, but we wanted to develop new crops," he said.

Among the diseases hitting the crops are "tobacco mosaic virus," "bacteria wilt" and, according to Sandler, "some so exotic they don't even have names." To control insects, he says some plants must be sprayed every other day with five pesticides.

SOYBEANS, GRAINS DROP SHARPLY

prices for farm commodities plunged for steep declines in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

There was little support even for wheat, which has resisted a steady downward drift which began last week in most other commodities. Today, most contracts recovered only pennies from the limit or near-limit losses posted on the opening.

Analysts said the selling was initiated by nervousness left over from Monday's lower prices. Export clearances in corn and wheat, though higher than a year ago, were lower last week than in previous reports, and this news added to the bearishness.

Soybean oil dropped the limit 100 points and soybean meal fell for losses near the $15 a ton limit.

Feed broilers, following the decline in red meat futures, also were lower. After about an hour, wheat was 14 to 20 cents a bushel lower, September 4.92; corn was down 10 cents a bushel, September 2.70; oats were off 6 cents, September 1.03 and soybeans were down 40 cents, September 7.00.

RADIALS TO BE WIDELY USED ON 1974 CARS

DETROIT (AP) — Steel-belted, radial-ply tires will make their first large-scale appearance on the new American car lines this year.

Long dominant on European highways, the radials were virtually unknown to the average U.S. car buyer until just a few years ago. But a major effort by the top domestic auto and tire firms has made their widespread inclusion possible on 1974 model cars.

New, Longer Look

School Board Looks At Tentative Budget

Members of the School District 117 board of education discussed the tentative 1973-74 budget Tuesday night at a committee-of-the-whole meeting held at the district administration offices.

Boardmember Don Colclasure led discussion off by asking Clifford Crone, superintendent, whether he had made a firm commitment to the board recently to keep the total loss for the year from going over the 1972-73 figure of $608,000.

"Will this not be a $142,000 increase," Colclasure queried.

"Can't Contradict"

Courtney Ford, assistant superintendent, answered: "I couldn't say no; I have no quarrel with what you just said: I can't contradict it."

Boardmembers Cecil Fransen and Russell Morris added their questions. Fransen: "Is this the balanced budget that you promised us?" Crone replied that he feels the district's annual income rate does exceed expenditures.

Board president Jack Fairfield pointed out that the total district revenues increase "only about $16,900," according to the budget.

Crone noted that "we're looking bad because we have spent into the future in '72-'73 and '71-'72." Morris: "Ya, but isn't this the trend? We're still going down."

Experience

Fransen pointed out "we've spent $917,000 more than we've taken in over the last three years if you want to put it on an accrual basis. For four years we've spent more than what we've taken in. Experience is what we're talking about, and our experience is that we're getting deeper in the red."

Crone said the district is generating more revenue and receiving more state aid.

Fairfield stated that there was no provision in the tentative budget for any possible salary increases teachers in the district may receive when the current contract dispute between the board and Jacksonville Education Association members is settled.

Income

"If we can't generate more income, then we have to cut expenses — is that right?" Morris asked Crone. Crone stated that the administration has tried to hold the line on expenses the last couple of years, "but with inflation we're able to buy less."

Crone described the figures presented in the budget as "realistic and appropriate for this district."

The tentative budget calls for expenditures of $5,210,000, compared with $5,019,000 last year.

No final action was taken on the budget proposals, although the board decided to schedule a public hearing on the budget for Tuesday, September 11.

They planned to take official action on the budget September 18.

Budget Copies

Ford stated that copies of the tentative budget are available to the public at his office.

In other discussion, Crone reported he has had no more word from the fact finder who recently studied the teacher contract deadlock. He repeated that the report is expected today or tomorrow.

Th board will meet Thursday night at 7:30 to receive the auditors' report.

Present for Tuesday night's meeting were Boardmembers Morris, Fairfield, Fransen, Colclasure and J. Ivan Heaton; and administration members Crone, Ford, and Fred Osburn.

Carl Hempel Dies Monday At Davenport

Carl Hempel, 78, a native of Jacksonville who has lived in Rock Island since 1925, died Monday at Davenport, Iowa, of a lingering illness.

Mr. Hempel was born in Jacksonville September 1, 1894, son of Charles A. and Nora Craddock Hempel. He married Loretta Maloney, who survives. Also surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Charles Balzer, Rock Island, and six grandchildren. One daughter, Mrs. Joyce Kleiber, preceded Mr. Hempel in death.

Also surviving are the following sisters: Mary Hempel, Jacksonville; Mrs. Cecil Tendick, Jacksonville; Mrs. Helen Ahlquist, Wood River; and Mrs. Donald Casey, Mason City, Iowa. One brother, Paul, preceded.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Apprehend Four Boys Following Auto Chase

Four youths have been apprehended and one is still at large in the Jacksonville area following an early Tuesday morning high speed auto chase.

The chase ended when the stolen car being pursued ran off the road and down a steep embankment at the intersection of US 67 and the Main Street turn-off at Woodson.

The car, which belongs to an Alton fireman, was stolen late Monday afternoon from a parking lot by the Alton Fire Department.

The chase began when Greenfield Police Chief Arthur Neumann saw the driver run a stop sign in Greenfield. The pursuit began, and Neumann called state police and South Jacksonville police to assist in the chase.

State police received the call at 3:24 a.m. Morgan County Sheriff's Department personnel also assisted.

Speeds during the chase exceeded 100 miles per hour.

Fled on Foot

After the car crashed, the driver and occupants fled the scene on foot. They were apprehended at 7:20 a.m. in the doorway of a grocery at Woodson. They reportedly said they were waiting for the store to open because they were hungry.

Damages to the car totaled $500.

Names of those involved have not been released because they are juveniles, but they include two boys 14 years old and two 15. Three of them are from Cottage Hills and another is from Granite City.

Two of the four apprehended are escapees of the Edwards-Juvenile Detention Center. All four are being held for auto theft, and two are being held for escape complaints.

The one still at large, as of late Tuesday night, is described as being six feet tall, with long blond hair, a slender build, and a hook nose. He is wearing wet, muddy clothes, and possibly a white T-shirt.

All charges stemming from the incident will be processed out of Alton in Madison County.

$10 Million In Flood Disaster Claims Okayed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Civil Defense Agency announced Tuesday its approval of applications for claims for flood disaster assistance totaling more than $10 million.

The announcement by Robert Ritz, the acting agency director, called this year's spring flooding the worst flood disaster in Illinois in 200 years.

Ritz said claims eventually may exceed $18 million. Federal aid was authorized in 51 counties by a presidential declaration of disaster.

Payment must be approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The claims are paid from the president's disaster relief fund.

Federal aid applies to citizens, and state and local governments.

'World's Largest'

The Circus Is Coming

By FRANK BRIDGEWATER

The "World's Largest Circus" is coming to Jacksonville September 5, complete with all the wild animals, side shows, sights and smells that have come to be expected of this American institution.

The Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus will set up at the fairgrounds and play two shows — one at 4 p.m. and another at 8 that evening.

John Kenlo, a public relations representative, was in town yesterday to talk about the upcoming local performance.

"My job is to contact the newspaper, television and radio stations and I act as a liaison between the city we're going to play and the circus itself," Kenlo said.

He was only in the city for a short time before moving on to Murphysboro, the next stop for the circus after the performance here. Kenlo came to Jacksonville from Quincy, where the circus will be the day before coming here.

Big Top

While most circuses in the country spend a lot of time in such places as New York City's Madison Square Garden and the Astrodome in Houston, Kenlo pointed out that the Clyde-Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus has retained the canvas big top show.

One of the first things Kenlo did after arriving in Jacksonville yesterday was to hunt up some hay for the elephants. He purchased a quarter ton of hay for each of the 15 traveling elephants to digest while in town.

Lions and tigers each consume about 15 pounds of horse-meat and chickens. Kenlo said he has "no more trouble than the average housewife" finding meat — which could mean any number of things. He said they keep about a two weeks supply of meat on hand.

One of the newest acts of the circus is Mr. Heavy's Pork Chop Revue, which features trained pigs. Kenlo was quick to point out that as the price of meat climbs, "this acts gets more valuable every day."

When informed that the circus would be playing in the county next door to the Pork Capital of the world, Kenlo mused over the thought that there may be talent around.

Classes Begin Despite Strikes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A circuit court judge ordered striking teachers in Peoria Tuesday to return to their classrooms Wednesday.

The teachers were scheduled to meet before school to decide whether to comply with the injunction, an Illinois Education Association spokesman said.

Glenn Collier, executive director of the Peoria Education Association, urged teachers to obey the order to avoid being held in contempt of court.

Classes began as scheduled Tuesday throughout most of the state, despite walkouts in Peoria, Alton, Jerseyville and Mascoutah.

The most effective walkout appeared to be in Alton where more than 400 of the school district's 650 teachers refused to cross picket lines in a dispute that centers on pay increase demands.

Harold Mathews, assistant superintendent of Alton schools, said opening day pupil attendance was about 60 per cent. He said 37 substitute teachers were called in to bolster the short staffed schools.

A member of the Alton Teachers Association said the high school closed after a 10-minute session. Officials said sessions usually are short on the first day of classes.

Negotiations were held between representatives of the Board of Education and the teachers but no agreement was reached.

Only nine teachers out of more than 200 reported to classes in Jerseyville where the strikers want more teachers hired, more elementary instructional materials and improvements in the schools. Salary is not an issue in Jerseyville. The teachers say parents in the community are supporting their strike.

The Mascoutah High School was closed when most of the teachers observed picket lines. A strike in Peoria seemed to have less support and effect than the three in the East St. Louis area.

Teachers said about half the 1,100 teachers in the system failed to report to classes but school officials estimated the number at about a third.

The Board of Education voted at an emergency meeting to seek a court injunction to end the strike if teachers do not accept offers to return to work with the promise no punitive action will be taken.

Officials said only five classes were canceled in Peoria's 33 elementary schools.

"No, they won't," Hutson replied uncertainly. He quickly added that teachers will soon expand the bargaining issues from wages to matters "involving teacher's rights."

Smucker testified that should collective bargaining be implemented the negotiable topics should be limited to salaries and fringe benefits.

Hutson said 71 per cent of the 1,062 school boards in the state are against collective bargaining for teachers, saying he based his estimate on a survey taken by the Illinois Association of School Boards.
